Be a rockstar boss with a thriving team!

DOES *ANY* OF THIS SOUND FAMILIAR?

- You are stressed out by having a full plate yourself while also managing others.
- You're tired of feeling like you haven't quite figured out this whole boss thing yet, even after years of being a manager.
- You're new to managing a team and want to get on the right path early.
- You simply want to be a rockstar boss.

I get it! With a learning mindset and the right support, you can grow into the fabulous team leader you're meant to be.

COACHING CAN (HELP) GET YOU THERE!

There is great value in having someone in your life whose primary focus is helping you grow and achieve your goals. Imagine...

- Leading your team with more confidence and less frustration.
- Understanding your managerial and leadership strengths and preferences, and how to leverage them.
- Using approaches to work around weaknesses (yes, we all have them and even though we can reduce them, they'll probably never fully go away.)
- Strengthening relationships with your direct reports in order to better support them to do their best work.
- Implementing strategies to support your ability to prioritize, delegate, plan and achieve your goals.

Listen to those who have experienced it!

“Mamie has been an extremely valuable resource, helping my team to increase our organizational impact and effectiveness. She brings significant expertise in organizational and group process, and interpersonal dynamics. Mamie is an exceptional facilitator! She makes great use of tools to frame discussion and is a natural at guiding conversation without driving direction. Finally, Mamie is a great synthesizer. She is a great listener who has been able to capture various points of view to develop meaningful and actionable models for my team.”

--- Dave M.

“I can’t say enough about how awesome Mamie is as a person to work with—she’s a very human and understanding leader who cares about the people she works with and genuinely finds joy in helping people succeed.

She was whip-smart at analyzing the issues I was facing and breaking down my brain-dump and stories into concise issues, repeating them back to me, and then offering actionable approaches to the matter at hand, as well as some rules of thumb to help in other situations. I’m really grateful for Mamie’s coaching and highly recommend it!”

--- Samantha C.
